

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WILL FIND GOOD POSITIONS

Occupational Bureau Looks Over Field and Gives Advice to Applicants.

PROMINENT WOMEN ON BOARD

Branches in Other Cities Ask Higher Educational Standards, Because Universities and Law and Medical Schools Are Open to Women.

Twenty years ago a woman gently bred could be a teacher if it was absolutely necessary to be self-supporting. A little later, following English precedent, hospital nursing was opened to her. To-day in the United States girls are coming into their own with their brothers, and almost every profession is at her command. It is no longer a dire necessity that drives her into her chosen work, but it is that self-reliance for which American girls are noted that makes her desire to be other than a parasite in the social scheme.

The problem now is suitable work. To find the right girl for the right job, and in Richmond public-spirited women have set their hands to the plow and are aiding the girls as they graduate from the high schools to attain their chosen professions. The work is being conducted by the "Women's Occupational Bureau," with offices in the new Young Women's Christian Association building.

This bureau, which is managed by Miss Beale Stearnes, has undertaken to give the field of women's work and to give, free of charge, expert advice regarding the equipment for different vocations, as well as information and guidance in matters relating to the education of girls. Miss Stearnes, who is a daughter of R. C. Stearnes, state superintendent of public instruction, is a Vassar graduate.

In cases where older women who are not high school graduates, but have attained the field of women's work, or have had one year here, another there, having in all the equivalent of a high school diploma, special attention will be given.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGE TO EMPLOYEES

Employers will benefit by this co-operative department, for their needs will be consulted, and, as nearly as possible, the right woman sent to them when their specific needs are stated. By standardizing the women workers the bureau can guarantee the best grade of workers to the offices, institutions, libraries and laboratories of Virginia.

There are but few business men who could not relate instances of a capable, rapid stenographer who could not spell, or in some other way was practically useless because of lacking the fundamentals. In speaking of this phase of the work, Miss Stearnes said: "The bureau will send to no employer an employee who has not practically a high school education."

In some of the Northern cities, New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, such bureaus have been established for several years under the direction of the intercollegiate alumnae of Bryn Mawr, Vassar, Cornell, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith and Wellesley. These have required a higher educational qualification than the Virginia branch, because the women seeking vocational opportunities are in the field for positions that are open only to the college woman. In this State a university training is not open to a woman; she cannot pursue a medical course in any Virginia medical college; she may not practice at the bar in her State.

HEADS OF VIRGINIA COLLEGES ON ADVISORY BOARD

Consequently, a high school certificate was considered; all that is essential in this is in a commercial organization, but is a co-operative undertaking yielding no profit to any one connected with it. The office is open daily from 9 to 5, and a nominal fee is charged on registration, but no registration is made until the field has been looked into and the applicant is reasonably assured of a position. If a position secured is held less than a year, some rebate is made to the applicant.

The executive committee and advisory board are as follows:

Executive Committee: Miss Virginia McKenney, Petersburg, chairman; Mrs. W. S. McNeill, Mrs. E. C. Starnard, Mrs. E. C. Minor, Mrs. Katharine H. Hawes, Miss Marion Hopkins, Mrs. J. Taylor Ellyson, Mrs. B. B. Munford, Mrs. J. A. Leffler, Mrs. C. H. Boshier, Miss Nannie Minor, Mrs. Norman V. Randolph, Mrs. A. J. Montague, Mrs. C. R. Winston, Mrs. L. R. Dashiell, Mrs. M. C. Branch, Mrs. S. N. Robins, Mrs. J. Cameron, Mrs. E. E. Gaines, Mrs. L. L. Lewis, Mrs. Charles P. Lee, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Miss Cally Itland, Miss Marion Itland, Miss Anna Minor.

Advisory Board: President William A. Webb, of Randolph-Macon Woman's College; President Mary K. Benedict, of Sweetbriar College; President Mattie L. Cooke, of Hollins College; Miss M. V. NORTH CAROLINA MINISTER IS RELEASED BY GERMAN

WILMINGTON, N. C., November 8.—Rev. R. M. Miller, a well-known Baptist minister of North Carolina, who had been held in Germany since his capture by the Germans, has been released from prison in Germany, and will soon be on his way back home. That is the information that has just been conveyed to Rev. W. W. Miller, city chairman of the Wilmington Baptist Association, which has been notified that the release was obtained by the State Department of the United States, and that the Baptists of this city and vicinity, through a committee, appealed.

NO CONFIRMATION OF NAVAL BATTLE REPORTS

VALPARAISO, CHILE, November 8.—No confirmation has been received here of reports prevalent the last few days that naval battles had taken place off the coast of Peru and off Coquimbo, Chile. Both reports now are considered baseless.

Chile is endeavoring to maintain strictest neutrality.

The report that a Japanese fleet had been seen off the coast lacks confirmation.

HEALTH PROTECTION FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Dr. Thomas E. Wright, of Louisiana, Urges More Careful Supervision.

WANTS EVERY CHILD INSPECTED

From Forty to Sixty Per Cent Found Defective, and in Most Cases Parents Were Not Aware of Defect Until Notified by Inspector.

Among the several physicians attending upon the convention of the Southern Medical Association who occupied pulpits in the local churches last night was Dr. Thomas E. Wright, of Monroe, La., who spoke in Trinity Methodist Church on "Health Protection for School Children."

After reviewing the great awakening in recent times to the danger to the nation from disease, Dr. Wright said that one of the most important contributing influences that became partly responsible for the health movement was the discovery of the organisms that produce diphtheria, tetanus, erysipelas, typhoid fever and tuberculosis. With this discovery came the intelligent study of groups of individuals, which soon centered about the school. Medical inspection of school children followed, he said, but it is still in its infancy. A summary of the reports of the inspection in the various schools, he continued, shows that from 40 per cent to 60 per cent of all school children are defective, and it is estimated that in not over 5 per cent of the defect is the parent aware of the defect until notified by the health inspector, he said, claim that physical defects are almost wholly responsible for backwardness, truancy and crime. Even the disciplinary feature of the protection is alone enough to justify it.

MANY DISEASES BEGIN WITH INFECTED TONSILS

He said that rheumatism, organic heart disease and pulmonary tuberculosis almost invariably begin with defective tonsils, and that defective teeth often threaten the life of children, besides affording into the body an avenue for the entrance of infections that increase markedly the death rate.

The question of the protection of "school children," of the protection of the child, solves itself into several specific lines of work. The environment of the child must have attention; there are great problems that are to be solved—flooding, drinking water, separate towels, playgrounds, shade and sunshine, ventilation, heat and light, sanitary outbuildings, and the individual child must not be neglected. He has some defect possibly easy to correct, yet unnoticed for years; he has some disease, contagious or infectious, and the other children must be protected. Correct the defect by having him go to his physician, stamp out the disease by discovery and isolation, and save the other children. The economic value of even this one feature of the health inspection needs no argument. Then the school as a unit must be protected. It is easy enough for the school to become a center of infectious and contagious diseases, and the study of infection needs no argument. Then the influence of environment, age, sex and heredity offers another line of research work leading up to increased protection and efficiency.

GOOD HEALTH AND EDUCATION. TWO REALLY GREAT THINGS

"Among the truly great things in the world I mention here only two—good health and education. The child must not sacrifice the first to obtain the second. The wise parent who bequeaths to his child a fortune protects the child and the fortune by having proper stipulations or conditions governing its use. Let the State make its legacy the least harmful to the child by providing a strong, efficient protection in his right for long life and vigorous health.

"This alarm has already gone down the line from every health platform and many pulpits; let the response from every State be strong and enduring that the final crystallization of this, the great vital movement of the century, will be the proper medical protection of every child in the nation."

TWO BOYS KILLED.

GREENSBORO, N. C., November 8.—Willis Sawyer, twelve years old, of Greensboro, and Clarence Wade, High Point, two deaf students at the State Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Morganton, N. C., were struck by a passenger train several miles from that place this morning and killed.

The boys ran away from their school on Saturday afternoon, and searching parties on Saturday night had failed to find them.

WILL FIX DATES FOR FRANCHISE HEARINGS

Committee to Take Up Petition of Virginia Railway and Power Company This Afternoon.

MANY POINTS TO BE CONSIDERED

Advocates of Fifteenth Street Improvement Hope to Get Favorable Recommendation as Soon as Fourteenth is Widened.

Two important measures will come up before the Street Committee this afternoon at 5 o'clock. One will be the hearing on the request of the Virginia Railway and Power Company for a thirty-year blanket franchise in lieu of all its present limited and permanent rights, and the other, a resolution to widen Fifteenth Street to relieve traffic congestion east of Fourteenth. Definite action on the application of the Virginia Railway and Power Company will probably be postponed. The committee will receive the formal application and a tentative ordinance already drawn up, and lay the question on the table until an exhaustive investigation as to what general and specific effects the new franchise will have upon the public interests is made. So far only that side of the question presented by the street railway committee, the public, and the Street Committee will be allowed to bring on a matter of such far-reaching importance.

COMPANY OFFERS TO SURRENDER ALL PRESENT FRANCHISES

Briefly, the Virginia Railway and Power company offers to surrender all its limited and permanent rights as they exist to-day in Greater Richmond and to deed to the city, Forest Hill Park and the Marshall Street, Fifth Street and the company's street rights, valued by the company at a total of $1,600,000, and, in return, asks that it be permitted to eliminate all parallel tracks, both as to the old system and as to the property recently acquired from the Richmond and Northern Railway Company. In the suggested ordinance covering the blanket franchise all provisions as to fares, routing of cars, schedules, headway, taxes, repair of streets, compensation for use of streets and similar questions are left open for consideration. At present the only point in the plans of the company which has been questioned is the value it places upon the property and conducts it agrees to surrender to the city. Differences in appraisal leave a margin of between $500,000 and $700,000.

HOPE FOR FAVORABLE VOTE ON FIFTEENTH STREET PLAN

Those who are interested in widening Fifteenth Street are hopeful that favorable consideration will be given them this afternoon. The resolution will be offered, probably, by Alderman Joseph E. Power, and the plan will be supported by the Germania Marx Gunst. Mr. Gunst stated at the meeting Friday afternoon, when it was decided to widen Fourteenth Street, that he would agree as to Fifteenth Street provided the former street should be opened first.

J. Thompson Brown and Company have submitted to the committee, a plan whereby the street is to be widened through the east end of the city, and the property and cutting of the front of others. Fifteenth Street will then be extended into Marshall by way of the Broad Street tunnel, bids for the construction of which are now in the hands of the Administrative Board.

Otis Skinner in New Play To-Night.

Otis Skinner's appearance at the Academy of Music to-night in the first of two performances of "The Silent Voice" is of peculiar interest to theatre-goers. An opportunity to observe that splendid actor is always worth taking advantage of, but the fact that he is appearing this season in a role altogether unlike any of those in which he has been seen in recent years makes his coming of more than usual importance among the theatrical events of the season.

For years Mr. Skinner has been presented in costume plays or in poetic dramas, having appeared for the last three seasons as Hajj, the beggar, in the fantastic and picturesque "Kismet." This season, however, he is presented by Charles Frohman in the thoroughly modern play, devoid of any of the assistance lent by gorgeous costumes or by the sonority of blank verse or poetic prose.

"The Silent Voice" was adapted by Jules Eckert Goodman from a short story by Gouverneur Morris, which appeared in one of the leading magazines a few years ago. The story attracted considerable attention at that time, and those who remember it will realize that in the part of Montgomery Starr he many possibilities, of which Mr. Skinner is certain to make the utmost.

"Graustark" at the Colonial.

At the Colonial Theatre the Grady Scott Company presents the dramatized version of George Barr McCutcheon's popular romance of the princess and the brave American—"Graustark." The story of Princess Yvette and her American sweetheart, Grenfell Lorry, is one of the best known of all the fanciful tales of the "Gendai" school, and its presentation by Mr. Newing's company will doubtless attract large audiences throughout the week.

"The Escape" at the Empire.

For the first time in Richmond, the Lucille La Verne Company offers Paul Armstrong's thrilling melodrama, "The Escape," at the Empire Theatre. James A. Marcus, who produced the piece originally, has been engaged by Lucille La Verne to put it on for her, so it will almost certainly have an adequate production. Mr. Marcus played a bit part in last week's bill, but this week has a role more worthy of his ability.

The Ardath Feature Lyric's Bill.

For the first half of the week at the Lyric Theatre, the Ardaths, in a comedy playlet entitled "Hiram," feature the bill. This is said to be one of the best, and, incidentally, one of the most expensive, acts in vaudeville.

Bijou's Gay Burlesque.

Accustomed to the advance "stuff," the Bijou Theatre's burlesque for the week, "The Monte Carlo Girls," will prove to be one of the gayest attractions booked since the house was devoted to that form of entertainment.

Clef Club Concert To-Night.

Departing somewhat from the general rule, the editor of this column feels perfectly safe in recommending unservedly the concert to be given at the City Auditorium to-night by the Clef Club Orchestra.

Assuming, as it is fair to assume, that the concert will be similar to that of the last season by the Clef Club, the work of these sixty negro musicians, playing many instruments peculiar to orchestras, as well as many commonly heard in mandolin, banjo and guitar clubs, and all singing at the same time, will prove a revelation to those who have not been so fortunate as to hear it before.

ALDERMEN MEET TO-MORROW TO ACT ON BOND ISSUE

Will Provide for Immediate Needs of Territory Must Be Studied—Expected to Concur in Ward Lines.

The Board of Aldermen at its meeting to-morrow night will act upon the emergency appropriations and the bond issue of $30,000, recommended by the Finance Committee, and passed by the Common Council as an immediate necessity to care for the newly-annexed territory. Further needs will be cared for under the budget of 1915, the city being required under the annexation ordinance to afford the new territory adequate fire, police and health protection, ample school facilities and street improvements. If the bond issue be concurred in by the Board of Aldermen it will become immediately available under the terms of the ordinance, and the tax returns from the new territory will at the same time become a part of the city's stated revenue. Otherwise, all taxes collected in the new territory in the last fiscal year, and the emergency appropriations included: $31,144, to be placed on the pay roll of the School Board; $16,190, to be placed to the credit of the City School Board; $9,000, for the Police Department; $3,000, for the Street Cleaning Department; $5,000, for the Water Department; $5,000, for a street survey in the new territory, and $2,681.25, for the Fire Department.

The board has also to pass on the redistricting ordinance and the resolution authorizing and instructing the City Attorney to test the validity of the rolling stock bill passed by the last Legislature, under the terms of which the rolling stock taxes are apportioned among the cities and counties through which each railroad passes, instead of, as heretofore, being assessed in the city in which the company has its chief offices.

Earthquake in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 8.—An almost imperceptible earthquake occurred here to-night. No damage was reported. The disturbance also was felt in the transbay region, including Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley and San Jose, fifty miles down the peninsula.

BERLIN REPORTS CRADOCK'S FLEET ANNIHILATED

LONDON, November 8.—A Marconi wireless from Berlin says: "Admiral Cradock's fleet has been annihilated in the Pacific. The losses on our side amounted to only a few wounded, and the material damage to our ships was insignificant."

Burned to Death.

NORFOLK, VA., November 8.—Frank A. Beaman, an employee of the Norfolk Southern Railway, was burned to death to-night when his automobile here turned over a high embankment. Beaman's only companion, was thrown clear of danger when the automobile turned turtle and escaped injury.

ENLISTED MEN WILL MAKE STUDY OF TACTICS

Adjutant-General Sale Plans to Add to Efficiency of Rank and File.

BOOKS READY FOR CLASSES

Manual for Privates to Be Distributed and Study Groups Will Shortly Be Formed—Officers Will Take Correspondence Course.

No longer will the enlisted strength of the Virginia Volunteers be considered a mere machine to move blindly at the command of superior officers. The old order has been changed, and during the coming winter the militiamen will be expected to accumulate as much knowledge direct from books as he does from the oral training of his superiors.

Adjutant-General W. W. Sale has just received a supply of "The Manual for Privates" from the War Department, and these are to be issued to each of the companies in the State. There will not be enough of the books to go to every man, but each company will be given a limited supply, and it will be the duty of the commanding officer to see that each man has an opportunity to read it. If possible, study groups are to be formed.

Study is to be a big factor in the militia in the future. Added efficiency is needed. This is shown by the lesson taught in the big European struggle, and increased military preparation is recognized as necessary. From the high private in the rear rank to the commander of a regiment, courses are laid down to be studied during the winter and spring. The officers have their correspondence courses, while the new idea has been worked out for the enlisted man.

WILL INTRODUCE CLASSES IN MINOR TACTICS

It is highly probable that before the winter is over General Sale will have instruction in minor tactics, as laid down by the army school of the line at Fort Leavenworth, introduced in the Virginia Volunteers. There are twenty-four specific subjects which are to be taken up in order by the companies. This could be done by devoting half of the one hour and a half prescribed for the weekly drills.

The time has passed when young men enter the State forces for pleasure. The majority now join because of a liking for military life, which is partly satisfied by the militia. The weekly grind in the armories, however, soon gets monotonous, and it is realized that something must be done to keep up the interest. Nothing has been found better than the study of military tactics under competent instructors.

Officers of the State troops are now actively engaged in their winter correspondence courses. Here in Richmond, where the number of officers is large, commanding officers are holding weekly schools for the study of the work outlined for the month. The correspondence course is under the supervision of Captain Arthur M. Shipp, U. S. A., inspector-instructor, assigned to the Virginia Volunteers.

PETERSBURG NEW HIGHWAY WILL PROVE GREAT AID TO SOUTHSIDE

Already Many Improvements Are Seen in Territory Through Which It Passes.

MUCH OF IT COMPLETED

Funeral of Spencer Vaughan Will Be Held To-Day—No Dark Tobacco Sold Yet on Petersburg Market. Game Is Very Plentiful.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] PETERSBURG, VA., November 8.—A large portion of the Washington-Atlanta Highway, which passes through Petersburg, Dinwiddie County, and on to the North Carolina line, has been practically completed. This road will be of great advantage to the business interests of the Southside, and especially to the immediate section through which it runs. The road through Dinwiddie has been divided into three divisions, each under the care of a special patrolman, who will look after its care and maintenance. The Chamber of Commerce of this city, beginning at the corporate limits, will mark each mile with a post as far as the Carolina line. At each of the road crossings, along the route a sign is to be placed. Signs of improvement along the highway are already apparent.

Funeral of a Veteran.

The funeral of the late Spencer Vaughan will take place at 12:30 o'clock to-morrow with services at the grave in Blandford Cemetery. Mr. Vaughan was born in Dinwiddie, had resided in Petersburg for over sixty years. He was a Confederate soldier of gallant record, and a member of A. P. Hill Camp. The camp will meet at their hall at 11:30 o'clock to attend the funeral and pay tribute to the memory of their departed comrade. Besides his wife, six children survive—Misses Rosa S. Daley, V. Carrie M., Inez S., Nellie M., and James C. Vaughan, all of this city.

General News Notes.

No dark tobacco has been sold in Petersburg this season. The market is waiting for greater safety in supplying orders for foreign shipment. The Belgian relief fund in this city has considerably exceeded $500. It is expected to exceed $1,000 by the close of the week.

The real estate market continues quiet. Among the sales the past week was a lot and improvements on High Street, by the Equitable Guarantee & Trust Co., of Wilmington, Del., to W. R. Robertson for $5,500.

While moving a showcase in his store yesterday afternoon, the case was broken, and E. H. Bilek was painfully cut in the hand by a piece of the glass. Besides his wife, six children survive—Misses Rosa S. Daley, V. Carrie M., Inez S., Nellie M., and James C. Vaughan, all of this city.

John W. Robertson, of Chicago, is visiting his father, Jacob Rudy, and relatives in Prince George County.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers"— said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Pilot:
"Nosing a big stern wheeler along a muddy river with sandbars reaching up to grab her—that's when you need real steadiness. When there's nothing but your judgment between your boat and a shoal, take a chew of PICNIC TWIST."

In every convenient twist of PICNIC you'll find the true tobacco uplift without the letdown that comes from dark, heavy, rank tobacco. PICNIC TWIST is a light colored, soft twist of the mild, mellow parts of the leaf.

Men accustomed to "strong" tobacco will be surprised how much they can chew of this mellow twist with its sweet, lasting taste.
